From the President

As we enter 2024, the Los Angeles Airport Peace Officers Association looks back on this past year's accomplishments with gratitude for the honor of representing our members, while also reflecting on ways we can improve that representation even more in the future. 2023 was a monumental year because we were finally able to consolidate our supervisor union into LAAPOA in an effort to move forward and tackle quality-of-life concerns together. As proof of that, we jointly were able to negotiate a monumental contract of pay and benefits parity, exceeding anything we previously accomplished separately.

This year, our priorities include continuing to strive for better equipment and staffing for all the agencies we represent. We will continue to work with management on filling existing vacancies as well. LAAPOA will also continue to push local, state and federal legislation that supports and advances the profession of law enforcement and the safety of airports, parks and grand spaces, and other citywide areas.

We are pleased to recently hear that there are two other city agencies that have inquired about joining LAAPOA. If this occurs, it will increase our citywide labor footprint and assist with future labor challenges as we continue to improve our positions and raise our public safety platform throughout the city, county and state as the premier labor association for public safety professionals and their families.

We look forward to further improving our members' benefits and quality of life in 2024 and anticipate many great improvements ahead of the many major events coming to the Los Angeles area in the coming years. As always, may God keep you and yours safe and continue to bless us all.

Marshall E. McClain, President
